“In my opinion this is the innovation of the millennium in horse welfare and horsemanship.”

-Poul Erik Lohmann

Multiple smaller meals are not only better for humans, it is also the way grazing animals were designed to eat. Feeding your horse many small meals each day can help eliminate undigested feed and many of the common digestive diseases found today such as colic, ulcers and stress. Because the horse is fed multiple times each day by the iFEED feeder there is no stress before, during or after feedings; no unwanted behavior is displayed. The iFEED system promotes slow, natural and calm feedings, resulting in a stress free environment.
